Executive Vice President and Chief Merchandising Officer

Jack Stout is Executive Vice President and Chief Merchandising Officer at 7-Eleven, Inc. He leads the company's merchandising operations, including category management, new product introductions, new category and profit center development, store sets and fresh food innovation. He also oversees store of the future, commissaries, and the distribution centers that serve 7-Eleven, Inc.'s stores. Jack is a member of 7-Eleven's Executive Committee.

Jack joined the company in 2003 as Operations Planning Manager. He went on to hold positions as Director of Store Development Strategy, Senior Director of National Franchise and Vice President of Business and Financial Planning prior to his joining the Merchandising Leadership team in 2015 as Senior Vice President, Merchandising and Demand Chain.

Before joining 7-Eleven, Jack served as an officer in the U.S. Air Force, achieving the rank of Captain. He was awarded the Air Force Commendations Medal and selected as a Professional Performer by the Inspector General. After serving in the military, Stout held positions with TXU Energy and Booz Allen and Hamilton. He currently serves on the board of Café Momentum, a non-profit culinary and restaurant organization that provides mentoring, support and work experience to at-risk youth in North Texas.

Jack graduated from Duke University, Durham, N.C., where he studied mathematics and earned his bachelor's degree. He also holds a Master of Science in Applied Statistics from Wright State University and a Master of Business Administration from Duke University's Fuqua School of Business.
